Immigration Information for F-1 Students

United States Citizenship and Immigration (USCIS)
San Francisco District Office
444 Washington Street
San Francisco, CA 94111
(800) 375-5283 (toll free)
https://www.uscis.gov/

VISITING THE OFFICE
All visitors must have an appointment to be admitted to the Information Unit of the San Francisco District Office.
Appointments must be made through the website: https://my.uscis.gov/en/appointment/v2

Note: You must bring your print-out INFOPASS appointment receipt and a photo identification (ID) to your appointment.

VISA:
- The visa in your passport allows you to ask to enter the US. It does not decide how long you can stay in the U.S. If your F-1 visa expires while you are in the US, there is no need to renew your visa. However, if your visa has expired and you want to leave the US then return to the US, you must get a new visa. Visit an US Embassy or Consulate outside the US (in your home country) to apply for a new visa. http://www.usembassy.gov/

- Immigration rules state that a person who enters the US with a business (B1) or tourist visa (B2) must change his/her status to student status (F1) before attending a school. In other words, the USCIS must approve the student’s change of status before the student studies at a full-time program. A prospective student can have an immigration attorney or a CGE Advisor help him/her to apply for a Change of Status.

- USCIS rules states that a person who enters the U.S with a student dependent visa status (F2) must change his/her status to student status (F1) before attending full-time at a school. A prospective student can have an immigration attorney or a CGE Advisor help him/her to apply for a Change of Status.

I-20:
- You received an I-20 when you were admitted to the program of Center for Global Engagement. It is important to keep a copy of all your I-20(s) with your passport. It is a good idea to make extra copies of your past I-20(s) and keep them in a safe place. It is your responsibility to keep record of your past immigration history for future use. Therefore, be sure to keep all of your immigration paperwork for your records.

I-94 Number:
- The I-94 is your arrival/departure record (number) given by the US DHS (Department of Homeland Security). To get your I-94 number, you must complete an online form soon after you arrive into the US. More information: https://i94.cbp.dhs.gov/i94/#/home

REMEMBER: IT’S YOUR RESPONSIBILITY TO KEEP A RECORD OF YOUR IMMIGRATION DOCUMENTS AND HISTORY. THEREFORE, MAKE COPIES OF YOUR:
1. Passport (visa and identification page)
2. SEVIS I-20(s)
3. I-94 card number

*NOTE: Keep copies in a safe place that is different from where you keep your originals.
TO MAINTAIN YOUR F-1 STUDENT STATUS:

1. Keep your passport valid: It is your responsibility to keep your passport valid for a minimum of at least six months into the future at all times. If you need to get a new passport, contact your home country’s embassy in the US and apply for a new passport. When you receive your new passport, bring it to the CGE Office (HUM 101) so we can make a copy of it for your student file.

2. Take a full course of study: Immigration requires students in F-1 status maintain full-time enrollment. At For EAP-ALI students, if you will be absent from class, you must call the CGE Office at 415-338-1438 to give the reason for your absence.

3. Follow the transfer procedures if you transfer to another school: If you plan to transfer to another school, you need to follow these steps:

TRANSFER PROCESS

It is the student’s responsibility to inform the school that s/he is transferring to or from another school. A student has 60 days from the last day from their previous school’s program to tell their previous school’s Student Advisor about the transfer. In addition, it is the student’s responsibility to follow-up with the school to complete the transfer process.

SEVIS School to SEVIS School

1. You MUST show proof of admission to your new school within 60 days from the last day of your completed session to transfer to another school.

2. After you show proof of admission to your new school, the CGE Advisor will transfer your SEVIS (I-20) record in SEVIS, the USCIS online reporting system.

3. The CGE will record in SEVIS, the name of the school you will transfer to, the last day of your semester, and the transfer release date (when your student record will be sent to your new school). Note: You can ask a CGE Student Advisor to cancel your transfer request at any time before your transfer release date.

4. After your release date, your new school must issue you a “transfer pending” I-20.

5. You MUST contact your new school to complete the transfer process within 15 days from your new program’s start date. This is 15 days from the start date printed on your I-20. If you do not complete your transfer process with your new school before this 15 day deadline, you will be out of status with immigration. After you contact your new school within the 15 days from your new school’s program start date, your new school will issue you a “transfer completed” I-20. You will use the “transfer completed” I-20 for travel. However, you should keep your “transfer pending” I-20 for your records.

TRAVEL

If you plan to travel to another country and return to the program of Center for Global Engagement at San Francisco State University, email celglobal@sfsu.edu and let us know first. Once the physical office will reopen (The CGE office is currently closed due to COVID-19), bring your I-20 to the CGE Office (HUM 101) for a travel signature. This travel signature will allow you to re-enter into the US at the port of entry.

If you are going to transfer to a different school, you will need to get your new school’s I-20 to travel outside and re-enter into the US.

CHANGE OF ADDRESS
As an F-1 and a J-1 student, you must tell the CGE office your current address. You must come to the CGE office, HUM 101 to fill out a CGE Change of Address Form or email celglobal@sfsu.edu within 10 days of your move. Once you inform us, CGE will update your SEVIS student and CGE record.

Or

Logon to Student Center at http://gateway.sfsu.edu and update your personal information. Start from the “Mailing Address” and “Home Phone” directly.

F1 and J-1 students who do not have health insurance are not allowed to study at the CGE programs. CULTURE SHOCK

Definition: Culture shock is universal; it could affect anyone no matter how much you have lived or traveled abroad. Culture shock happens when you live in a new culture. San Francisco might not be like a place you have been before. The buildings, clothing, trees, and plants are different. And, most importantly, the people are different. They speak a different language, values, traditions, and eat different food. It may take some time for you to adjust to this new environment and you might have a lot of different feelings and surprises that you experience.

Feelings and Symptoms of Culture Shock: You might first be excited by the challenge of living in a new culture. It might seem like you are on vacation. After some time goes by, you may slowly realize or may not realize that you are not on vacation and that you live here now. The small differences over time may make you have different feelings and symptoms.

Examples of Culture Shock Feelings and Symptoms:

- become depressed
- sad
- tired
- excited
- develop insomnia (cannot sleep or sleep well)
- feel lonely, anxious, or angry
- lose your appetite or eat a lot
- feel that no one understands how you feel

Culture shock affects people differently and there are different ways to look at culture shock. However, here is one way you can view culture shock.

Happy

Sad
“Depression”

Time
■ The time when you begin to live in new culture.

What You Can Do About Culture Shock?
Culture shock is universal which means that you are not alone and it happens to everyone. In addition, culture shock is temporary which means that it does not last forever; it will end. Sometimes you might feel like it will last forever, the sadness and homesickness, but it won't. Every international student has some of these feelings when they come to live in a new culture or country. Talk to other international students about your feelings. In addition, here are some more ideas to cope with culture shock especially the toughest part when you are feeling sad and depressed.

1. Stay busy and go out:
   - Go out with friends and classmates
   - Attend classes
   - Go on CGE student activities

2. Talk:
   Talk to as many people as you can (family, friends, advisors).
   See a counselor at the SF State’s Counseling & Psychological Office.

3. Exercise:
   Your mind might be tired (from new surprises, learning English all day) but your body may not be. Maybe you might have a hard time trying to sleep (insomnia). Exercise will help your body to be more tired so you can sleep better.

- Debit cards are not available at the parking office.

BICYCLES:
SF State offers over 800 designated bicycle parking spaces throughout campus in bike racks. Please refer to the On-Campus Bike Parking Map for bike parking locations.

Other Parking Tips:
Parking in San Francisco can be difficult. Street parking is hard to find and ruled by time limits. Parking tickets are expensive and easy to get. To help prevent parking problems, here are some parking tips:

- Always read the street signs.
- Remember to read the signs for how long you can park in the parking spot.
- Remember to curb your wheels on hills.
- Your tires must be within 1 foot (12 inches) of the curb.
- Never park in an intersection, driveway, handicap zone, crosswalk or in front of a fire hydrant.
• Do not double park. Double parking is when you leave your car in the street next to another parked car and you block the flow of traffic.

WHAT STREET CURB COLORS MEAN:

RED: No stopping at any time, standing or parking.

WHITE: Very short stop—only to pick up or drop off people.

GREEN: Park for a limited time. The time is usually shown on a sign next to the green zone, or painted on the curb.

YELLOW: Loading zone. You may stop only long enough to load or unload packages or passengers. Drivers are usually required to remain in their cars.

BLUE: Parking only for handicapped persons with handicapped ID.

If you receive a parking ticket, pay it as soon as possible. The longer you wait to pay parking tickets, the more expensive they become. If you get a parking ticket and you need information about paying your parking ticket, please visit the website: http://www.sfmta.com/cms/penf/13441.html

Remember: Never drink alcohol and drive a car!

PARKING METERS

When you park in San Francisco, be sure to check the parking meter rules. When you park and you stay over the amount of time you paid, you may get a ticket. You will get a ticket even though you put money in after you get a ticket or if the meter is broken. All parking meters in San Francisco accept credit card, pay-by-phone, SFMTA parking card and coins. On some holidays, the parking police do NOT check parking meters. Visit the website: https://www.sfmta.com/getting-around/parking/holiday-enforcement to find out which holidays are not enforced in specific areas in San Francisco.
California Driver’s License

It is not recommended that you use your passport as identification. For cashing checks, visiting bars or restaurants that serve alcohol, an acceptable form of California Identification is necessary. If you drive, a California Driver’s License is acceptable (and you should apply for one immediately; an International License does not permit you to legally drive).

If you are an F-1 student and do not have a Social Security Number (only given for jobs), you can still apply to the Department of Motor Vehicles (DMV) for either a California Driver’s License or Identification Card. The DMV will give you a special ID number which you will use for your application after you tell them that you are not eligible for a Social Security Number. Don’t be surprised, however, if you find that different DMV Offices follow different process (and some offices know more than others about F-1 visa benefits). You will need to bring when you apply: Passport, I-94 card, I-20 form

Who needs a California Driver’s License? You need to get a California Driver’s License if you want to drive any motorized vehicle (car, motorcycle, and scooter) in the state of California. A driver’s license can also be used for identification.

“I have an international driver’s license and a driver’s license from my country. Do I still need a driver’s license?”

Yes, if you have an international driver’s license or a driver’s license from your country, you still need a California Driver’s License if you want to drive. You will need to pass a written traffic law and a driving test.

Does the DMV require me to have a social security number (SSN) in order to get a driver’s license?

If you are not eligible for a SSN, you do NOT have to give a SSN. (You may find that the a DMV employee may say that you get a SSN or a letter from the SSA Office saying that you do not qualify for an SSN, but you should say that you do not need an SSN or need to have a SSA Office letter.) The DMV officer should be able to see into an immigration data base, and can check that no employment authorization has been given and you do not qualify for an SSN. If you continue to have problems because of the SSN, then ask to speak to the DMV Office Supervisor and say that internal memo (DMV DL 2003-37) about the new SSN on-line verification system says that the DMV “should not refer customers to the SSN office to determine SSN eligibility.” (This memo was sent on Dec. 3, 2003 and started on Jan. 1, 2004.)

“I have a driver’s license from another state (like Oregon). Do I need to get a California Driver’s License?”

Yes, you will need to get a California Driver’s License. You will only have to take the written traffic law test. If you have a license from another state, you do not have to take the driving test.
